REPUBLICANS CLOSE SHATTERED RANKS TO FIGHT TRUMAN PLANS

EXPANSION OF NEW DEAL SEEN CERTAIN AFTER BIG VICTORY

BY JACK BELL

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4.—(AP)—Republicans closed their shattered ranks today for a two-year fight in Congress against a certain effort by President Truman to modernize the New Deal.

Mr. Truman returns to Washington and a welcome-home celebration tomorrow the hottest article in American politics, as the result of his upset victory over Gov. Thomas E. Dewey.

He will be off Sunday for a two-week breathing spell at Key West, Fla.

New Program Planned.

When he comes back, it will be time to shape up the legislative program which he promised last night will be based on the Democratic party platform.

Mr. Truman told a home-town victory celebration in Independence, Mo., he wants every citizen to help him carry out his "tremendous responsibility for the peace and welfare of the world."

"I am going to do the best I can to carry out that Democratic platform as I promised to do in my speeches around the country," he said.

That is a large order.

Home Plans Listed.

Besides efforts toward winning a lasting peace, the platform pledged such things at home as (1) curbs on "Republican inflation," (2) "comprehensive" housing legislation and (3) tax reduction "whenever it is possible to do so without unbalancing the nation's economy."

The platform also called for (1) repeal of the Taft-Hartley act, (2) a 75-cent an hour minimum wage to replace the present 40-cent figure, (3) extension of social security coverage, (4) a national health

Stock Market Up Again After Dip On Election News

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—(AP)—A fast rebound lifted the stock market today after yesterday's election slump.

Key stocks advanced a few cents to $2 or so a share. Blocks of 1,000 or more shares sold frequently.

Despite the gains, though, the price level was still substantially below Monday's pre-election figures.

Among a wide variety of issues which attracted support were U. S. Steel, Inland Steel, General Motors, Chrysler, Goodrich, Woolworth, International Harvester, Distillers Corp., Commonwealth & Southern, Radio Corp., Owens-Illinois Glass, Santa Fe, Standard Oil (NJ), and Eastern Airlines.

Yesterday's crack-up in prices stirred up interest in the market all over the country—Buying orders came from the public as well as the Wall Street trader.

U. S. Steel Corp. opened 50 cents a share higher at $79.75 on transfer of 1,500 shares. Bethlehem Steel advanced 37 cents to $6.75 on a similar deal.

General Motors started the day 2 cents higher at $63 on sale of 1,000 shares.

Demand spilled over into other groups as well, including some of the utility and oil stocks which were so hard-pressed yesterday.

The turnaround followed the worst beating the stock market has taken in the past two years.

Truman Cheered, Says He Bears No "Malice"

By ERNEST B. VACCARO.

WITH TRUMAN EN ROUTE TO WASHINGTON, Nov. 4.—(AP)—President Truman rejected today a suggestion that those who forecast his defeat be forced to "eat crow" in public.

Riding toward Washington in triumph, he thanked trainside crowds for his stunning election victory Tuesday, and said he bore no "malice" towards those who opposed him or said he could not win.

At Jefferson City, Mo., he read a telegram from the Washington, D. C., Post, which offered to arrange a dinner at which its own writers and other wrong guessers would eat "breast of tough old crow en glace" and the president would have turkey.

"Never Bear Malice."

Mr. Truman said he had been in many election campaigns and "after an election is over I never bear any malice."

"The man who is defeated feels badly enough without being crowed over. And that's what I'm going to tell them."

A crowd jammed the station at St. Louis where the president held up a copy of an early election night edition of the Chicago Tribune which carried a headline saying "Dewey Beats Truman."

"That is one for the books," the president asserted as he chuckled with the thousands swarming around the rear platform of his private car.

"It's been a tremendous fght," Mr. Truman said to the St. Louis crowd. He asked them to "stand by me because I've got the biggest job in the world now."

The Post proposed to invite "newspaper editorial writers, political reporters and editors, including our own, along with pollsters, radio commentators and columnists."

The president was invited to make the address of the evening as "dean of American election forecasters" and "the only accurate one" and to "share with your colleagues the secret of your analytical success."

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Nov. 4—(AP)—Missouri's capital city gave President Truman a winner's welcome today.

Earlier at Independence, the President, departing for Washington today, promised an early attempt to see enactment of Democratic platform pledges.

Thousands of Jefferson Citians jammed the rail yards from the station platform to cheer the "little man from Independence" who won election to the presidency against what the experts thought were impossible odds.

The crowd started cheering and waving even before the special train came to a stop to pick up water.

The President, grinning broadly, waved back from the rear platform.

There was no official estimate of the crowd, almost impossible to count because it streamed along the tracks, crowded a loading dock and hung from nearby factory windows.

But the tumult was almost deafening.

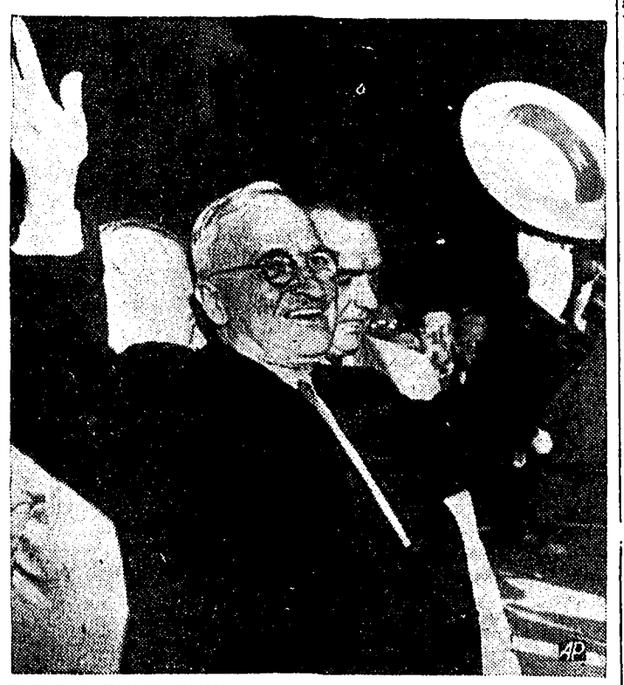

The President told the crowd that with election he had new and greater responsibilities and he asked for public help.

The President disappeared inside the train to greet Gov. Phil M. Donnelly and other official visitors. Then he returned to the platform and the howling crowd.

"Crow Banquet" Set

He said he wanted to read a telegram from the Washington Post, inviting him to a "crow banquet."

U.S. Plane Crash In Azores Kills 18 Of 20 Aboard

TAMPA, Fla., Nov. 4.—(AP)—Eighteen persons died in a crash of a U. S. bomber in the Azores yesterday. One person is missing and another was injured.

McDill Field announced the Airforce B-29 crashed shortly after taking off from Lagens Field on the Mid-Atlantic island. It cracked up in the ocean about 300 yards offshore.

The plane was one of 29 ships of the 307th Bomb Group returning to their base at MacDill Field after three and a half months training in England.

B-29s normally carry a crew of 10. Others among the 20 aboard were maintenance men and other ground crewmen being brought home as pasengers, MacDill Field said.

The plane crashed in a light rain after dark (6 p. m. Azores Time, 3 p. m. CST) The ground ceiling was low, about 1,000 feet, but not unusual for a B-29, the announcement stated.

An inquiry has been started at Lagens Field. This was reported the first fatal accident for the 307th group in tens of millions of miles flown since it was reactivated two years ago.

The dead included the following:

1st Lt. William Jacobs of St. Petersburg, Fla., and M-Sgt. Robert V. Wise, S-Sgt. William D. Branch, S-Sgt. Albert J. Snead, M-Sgt. J. E. Carriker, T-Sgt. William P. Stubblefield, S-Sgt. Raymond J. Chaplain, 1st Lt. Leonard Post, M-Sgt. Franklin E. Albright, Sgt.

Winter Likely To Reduce Jobs In Navarro County

Old Man Winter with part of his woes is about to catch up with the Navarro county labor situation.

Although October was another example of almost total employment throughout the county, the Texas Employment Service has a weather eye cocked and waiting.

W. B. Reedy, manager of the Corsicana office of the state organization, predicts "considerable change" from the year's peak.

He is confident the employment picture will take the usual hues and the natural trend.

Further Reductions.

There will be further reductions in workers employed in agriculture, and work will be directly affected by conditions usually handed out by the weather man during the late fall and winter months.

"Outside activity, such as building, will slow up considerably in most parts of the state, and many local people who have been following this type of work elsewhere will return during the dull season," Reedy said.

Texas Due To Be Cooler, Not Cold

By The Associated Press

Cooler weather was edging into the northwest corner of Texas at midmorning today.

The weather bureau cautioned that it was only cooler weather and not a norther or even a cold front.

The swiftly moving cool air mass was swinging toward Texas from California and was expected to undermine the warm, moist gulf air also vying for supremacy in the state. The result will be showers.

Cooler and blustery weather was expected to cover the state by tomorrow. Scattered showers and cooler temperatures were forecast for the Panhandle, south plains and Pecos valley westward this afternoon and also in the northwest portion of East Texas.

Lows of 32 to 36 were predicted for the Panhandle tonight.

Texas was reported clear and windy this morning with no rain reported in the past 24 hours. Westerly winds from 25 to 35 miles per hour were sweeping over the Panhandle and West Texas.

Temperature readings yesterday reached a high of 89 at Dallas but did not go above 70 at Amarillo. Lows this morning ranged from 72 at Brownsville to 49 at Amarillo.

Decision Due In Court Fight Of Texas Democrats

FORT WORTH, Nov. 4.—(AP)—A decision may be handed down today in the suit brought by Tarrant county Conservative Democrats for an injunction to nullify the purge of anti-Trumanites and block other acts of the Democratic state convention here last September.

Judge Walter Morris, who is hearing the case in 67th district court, said he may hand down a decision late today when the suit is expected to be concluded after five days of testimony and arguments.

Final arguments will be made starting at 1:30 p. m. by Gillis Johnson, representing the Conservatives, and Ernest May, who represents Jack Carter, Mrs. J. W. Douglas, and other Democratic political figures named defendants in the suit.

"Mob Rule" Charged.

Called to the stand yesterday were Neville G. Penrose and Mrs. Bennett Smith, ousted as state executive committee members at the convention, and William D. Morris, deposed presidential elector nominee.

Penrose said "mob rule" dominated the convention during the unseating of the Conservative Harrs, Tarrant and Dallas conventions, and the ouster of the party officials.

E. C. Pannell, chairman of Precinct 116, and J. L. Gammill, chairman of Precint 43, testified that the purge voted by the convention was a device to enable left-wing Democrats to seize party machinery from men who had been elected by direct vote of the people.

"Give One Day's Pay" Is Slogan Of Corsicana Community Chest Drive

Community Chest workers armed with a new philosophy of giving have started pounding on the doors of industry, bringing with them a message of sound business.

It is not only industry that will hear the plea, but right now it is industry.

Under the direction of J. Tom Eady, general chairman of the annual Chest campaign, the workers are trying to sell the trend of "Give One Day's Pay."

One Day's Pay

Six days before the drive officially opens Nov. 9, the workers are in the field, meeting with employees, contacting employers. They have a simple story—if every employee will give one day's salary to the chest, the donations will be spread among more people and little trouble will be encountered in raising the quota of $45,434.

Already one firm has reported a 100 percent report. Thursday morning the Whiteselle Brick & Lumber Co. turned in cards from 13 employees. The amount they pledged averaged better than a day's pay.

At 1 p. m. Friday the employees of the Oil City Iron Works will be told the story by Herman Brown, executive secretary, and Louis Wolens, past president of the Chest.

The Chest campaign group has so mapped its plans as to include every industrial unit, however small, on its talking tour.

All Must Help

Every store owner will be asked to pass the message on to its employees. The city and the county will be asked to see that its employees know of the "Give One Day's Pay Plan."

Out of all of it, Chest officials hope will come a combined contribution that will place Corsicana up in the average national bracket. They have long felt that too few had to give too much, too many gave nothing at all.

Records Available

Chest officials have on file at the Chamber of Commerce office the copies of budgets of the 11 participating agencies. Persons interested in the budget of any group were urged to come by and inspect them. The budgets are detailed statements as to where the money will go.

And residents were again reminded by officials that if there was no Community Chest there would be at least 11 separate drives for money.

The Chest, under direction of Joe E. Butler, is pumping new blood into the life of the organization. It has two hopes—to do away with a campaign that stretches from days into weeks and weeks into months; to obtain the full quota and give the Chest participants the exact amount requested in their budgets.

UN, Europe See Truman Win As Boosting Hopes

PARIS, Nov. 4.—(AP)—United Nations circles today predicted prompt strengthening of America's predominant role in world affairs as a result of President Truman's return to office.

While both the American and foreign delegations here still sought to overcome their surprise at the election news and its implications, several principal factors emerged:

There will be no waiting period before a new president takes office.

Furthermore, the President in the future can count on support from his party in both houses of congress. The position of the American government thus is fixed firmly for at least the next two years.

Policy Strengthened.

The United States' bi-partisan foreign policy is being strengthened. All comment from Republican leaders as expressed or received here has emphasized the continuity of bi-partisan policies.

This was stressed in a statement from John Foster Dulles, member of the American delegation and Republican foreign affairs expert. American delegation members noted that Gov. Dewey himself also emphasized this point.

These factors are expected to result almost immediately in the production of a more self-confident American delegation.

A one word comment by Russian Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky—"amazing"—remained the reaction of nearly all U. N. leaders as the scope of Mr. Truman's victory became apparent.

Newspapers and radio commentators throughout western Europe chortled today as they related the

Japan Guilty Of Waging War On Allied Nations

TOKYO, Nov. 4.—(AP)—Japan today was convicted of waging aggressive wars against China, Russia, Britain, the United States and other Western powers.

The conviction by the international military tribunal for the Far East came in the long trial of former Premier Hideki Tojo and 24 co-defendants on war crimes charges. They looked sleepy as reading of the judgment began.

The court narrowed down the issue to these questions: Was Japan guilty of waging aggressive war in violation of international treaties? Were the 25 defendents responsible for making and carrying out these policies? Were the defendants responsible for crimes against humanity and violations of the laws of war?

Militarists and their supporters, the court held, seized control of Japan's government. They, the tribunal found, provoked war through the Manchurian conquest of 1931 and the full scale war against China that began on July 7, 1937.

Earlier the tribunal cleared the 25 defendants of 38 of the 55 counts in their war crimes indictment. This, however, was only a means of expediting the trial and eliminating duplications of the charges, the court said.

The court found Japan began preparations for war against China, Russia, Britain, the United States and other Western powers in the early 1930s.

GENERAL ASSEMBLY APPROVES PROPOSALS OVER RED PROTESTS

SOVIET CONTROL IDEAS REJECTED AFTER BLAST AT U.S. INTENTIONS

PARIS, Nov. 4.—(AP)—The United Nations assembly approved today, over bitter Russian protests, the western plan for world atomic control.

The vote was 40 to 6, with four abstentions. The Russians bloc nations alone voted against the western plan.

Earlier the assembly turned down Russia's counter proposal and two Indian amendments.

Red Plan Rejected

The rejected Russian proposal called for a treaty banning the atom bomb and a separate pact setting up controls. The treaties would have been effective simultaneously. The vote on this, too, was 40 to 6, with only the Soviet bloc states voting in favor.

An Indian amendment to approve the western plan "in substance" only was rejected 15 to 9, with 26 nations abstaining. The west insisted on full approval. Then the assembly beat down an Indian amendment calling on the atomic energy commission to resume work and draw up a treaty incorporating the commission's decision. The vote on this was 31 to 5 against, with 15 abstaining. The commission, reporting itself unable to agree, stopped work early this year.

The delegates then turned to a vote on the western plan, approved by the majority of the 58-nation political committee.

Meaning Explained

But in its vote assembly did this:

1. Approved the majority plan for atomic control as the basis for establishing effective international regulation. This is based on proposals made June 14, 1946, by Bernard M. Baruch of the United States.

2. Expressed official concern at the impassee between Russia and the west. Russia, objecting to the inspection provisions of the Baruch plan, consistently attacked it.

3. Requested the United States, Britain, China, France, Russia and

Truman's Foreign Policy To Depend On Aid Situation

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
(AP Diplomatic Reporter)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4.—(AP)—President Truman's post-election foreign policy appears certain to be dominated by this single great issue:

How much more money and goods is the United States willing and able to throw into the cold war against Russia?

Diplomatic authorities say that on Mr. Truman's answer to this question will largely depend the scope, perhaps even the effectiveness of the whole stop-Communist program during his second term in the White House.

Critical Areas Discussed

The question arises specifically in connection with three critical areas of the world:

Western Europe—The non-Communist countries in this sector of the cold war front want both a military alliance and lend-lease arms aid. The cost of this new lend-lease has been guessed by military experts at from $2,000,000,000 a year up and would make heavy demands on steel and other basic American industrial supplies.

China—The United States is confronted with an immediate crisis in China with the nationalists government buckling under the impact of Communist army victories. The present U. S. civilian and military aid program amounts to $400,000,000 for the 12 months end-

Dewey Goes Home To New York Job

ALBANY, N. Y., Nov. 4—(AP)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey quietly went back about the business of being governor of New York today.

The defeated Republican presidential candidate returned to the state capital from New York last night just nine hours after he had conceded the election to President Truman.

Dewey and his family got a warm welcome from a crowd of several hundred persons assembled at the rail station.

It was a crowd in sharp contrast to the yelling, shouting throngs which greeted him on his campaign travels.

This one was a sympathetic gathering. There was applause and some cheers but there was a note of restraint in keeping with Dewey's disappointment over losing the election.

Winning Texans Not Lagging At Gagging, Razzing Voting Wrong-Guessing

By WILLIAM C. BARNARD
Associated Press Staff.

There was no lagging of gagging as Texans continued to razz the public opinion experts who predicted President Truman would be beaten badly.

A saying of the day was: "Mr. Truman slowed Dr. Gallup down to a walk," and the Kilgore News Herald ran a free want ad: "Wanted: Nice, clean, dignified position, nothing to do with figures or percentages." Signed: George Gallup and Elmo Roper.

George P. Kuykendall, West Texas business and religious leader and board member of Texas Christian University, recalled the sad poll of a magazine in 1936 (which predicted Landon would beat Roosevelt and ceased publication soon afterward) in a phone call to the Lubbock Journal: "Is it true that Doc Gallup and Drew Pearson are joining the staff of the Literary Digest?"

When the bulletin came over the news wire in the Waco Times-Herald that Dewey had given up, editors shouted: "Dewey's conceded."

A printer back in the composing room shouted:

"What's he got to be conceited about?"

The Oak Cliff Lions Club was so sure several days ago that Dewey would win, its luncheon bulletin yesterday said: "In the 20 years existence of this club, this is the first time we have a program under a Republican administration."

At the meeting, 53 members of the club pleaded guilty to being Republicans and were fined 25 cents each.

Judge, Lawyer Happy.

Federal Judge Allen B. Hanney, trying a case at Corpus Christi, announced in court that Dewey had conceded the election and offered to buy coffee for attorneys and court attendants. But James V. Allred, a Democratic leader in Texas and one of the attorneys, insisted on paying for the coffee.

"The election results made me love everybody," Allred said.

An FBI agent in Fort Worth heard laughter coming from a federal grand jury room and investigated. He found that Mabel Gouldy, Star-Telegram reporter, had been admitted into the room to announce that "Dewey's conceded."

After making her announcement, Mabel said: "I've told you what I know. Now, what are you gentlemen doing?" That's what started the laughter.

Modern Diogenes.

In Dallas, an attorney visited newspaper offices, carrying a lantern in one hand and a roll of money in another. "I'm looking for a Republican," said this modern Diogenes, "and I'm offering a reward."

In the same city, a little girl told her mother that at school Wednesday, the two most important men in history were discussed. "And who were they, dear?" mother asked. "Doak Walker and Mr. Truman," the little girl replied.

Here are some of the sayings that went the rounds:

"Never Dewey today what you can put off four years."

"Gallup and Roper know all the wrong people."

"If all the polls were laid end to end, they would reach from here to a wrong conclusion."

Before the election people sang, "Don't Sit on the Grass, Harry, it's Dewey."

Today, they're singing: "Don't Sit on the Grass, Tom, it's Harry."

But there's a fellow in Parker county who probably didn't get a bang out of the election.

He showed up at a Weatherford polling place Tuesday and spent 10 minutes reading the king-size ballot.

Then he handed the ballot back to the election judge.

"You can have this back," he said. "I don't see anyone I want to vote for."

Junior College Head Speaker At Rotary Meeting

"Education is one of the things we must continue to move forward," Ray Waller, president of Navarro Junior College, told members of the Rotary Club at luncheon Wednesday.

Explaining the value of the local college, Waller stressed the need for training to maintain an individual's production and high income.

"It is wise for us," he said, "to see that the people of Navarro County have an opportunity for education."

Many of the area's youth would never enter college if it were not for Navarro Junior College, the educator said. He expressed the belief that six weeks' training at the college would be highly advantageous for any person because it would build a self-confidence not easily acquired elsewhere.

Other advantages he named included: Better citizens are made; it's good business for the community; and students save considerable sums by being able to stay home.

The present enrollment at the college, he said, is approximately 450, and out of 261 academic students, 120 are Corsicanans.

Only a little over two years old, the college has expanded greatly and could be made one of the best in the nation by the continued cooperation and backing of the community, Waller said.

"Production in the nations of the world runs along on the same curve of education," he said, citing non-educated prison convicts and non-producing peoples who are not trained. The college president said he did not necessarily mean "going to college" but that education and training may be acquired in other ways.

Waller was introduced by Tom Sawyer.

Major L. H. Fuller of the 133rd Field Artillery battalion who is making his headquarters here, was introduced by Moyne Kelly as a new member.

Ernest Crumpacker of Houston was visiting Rotarian and Lauro Peck of the Farm Home Administration was a guest of Harrison Fendley.

Canada to consult to determine whether there is a basis for agreement and to report to the assembly not later than the next session.

4. Called upon the atomic energy commission to pick up its work where it left off last spring, when it decided it could not do any more work until the East-West deadlock was broken.

Earlier Russia rejected the western plan as fantastic and unreal.

Real Gain Doubtful

It was questionable whether the action of the assembly moved atomic energy control any nearer to realization.

In effect, the day's debate produced another standoff with Russia rejecting the western plan and the west rejecting Russia's. The whole thing now goes back to the commission and the big powers for more talk.

Soviet delegate Andrei Y. Vishinsky told the United Nations general assembly the United States does not want international atomic control.

Vishinsky brought President Truman into the atomic debate again. He quoted the American president as saying recently in Milwaukee that the United States must continue to develop atomic weapons until the "correct" form of international control is in effect.

Bomb-Making Hit

Gesturing with his arms as he spoke, Vishinsky told the assembly that this apparently meant the Americans would continue developing atom bombs until the western control plan is adopted.

Such an attitude expressed by Mr. Truman means, Vishinsky said, that "you are in a vicious circle of contradiction."

The Russian demanded that the delegates approve the Soviet plan for atomic control. He shouted that there is no basis for agreement now between the western and Russian plans.

He charged that the United States does not want atomic control and that the Baruch plan is a "cunning maneuver" designed to wreck any control.

The western plan, approved by a majority of the assembly's political committee, is based on proposals made June 14, 1946, by Bernard M. Baruch, then the U. S. delegate on the U. N. atomic energy commission.

India Opposes Control

Mrs. Vijayalakshmi Pandit, chief Indian delegate and ambassador to Moscow, told the delegates after Vishinsky spoke that India could not agree to international control of atomic materials while oil and similar materials remained in private hands.

Mrs. Pandit proposed an amendment to the western proposal. The majority of the 58 nations in committee has favored approving the western plan as drawn up by the majority of the 11-nation atomic commission.

Her amendment proposed that the assembly "approve in substance" the majority report. India has fought consistently in this assembly to tone down the differences between the East and West on the atomic problem.

Paul Ramadier, French minister of defense, told the assembly his delegation would vote for the majority plan.

ing next April. Already the state department is reviewing its China policy to determine what, if anything, should be recommended to congress in January to meet the crisis.

Greek Expense High

Greece—Steadily mounting American expenditures in Greece have prevented the Communists from taking over the country but have not succeeded in wiping them out. A new and probably greater military aid program—compared with $175,000,000 this fiscal year—seems likely to be presented to congress next session.

Hence the new problems of these critical areas raise the prospect of important spending quite apart from the multi-billion dollar European recovery program with its demands on both money and goods at a time when this nation's own production and consumption are at peak levels.

Democratic control of congress is expected to ease somewhat President Truman's handling of these problems, especially where money is concerned. Administration officials who were confronted last session with the avowed "meat-axe" methods of Chairman Taber (R-NY) of the house appropriations committee are jubilant at the switch in party control.

Vandenberg Still Needed

Yet in the senate the Democratic administration still may have to rely to some extent on the expected support and obvious prestige of Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich) in seeking approval for bi-partisan foreign policy legislation. In that body, however, the leadership of vice-president elect Barkley, as president of the senate, should prove a great new asset to the White House and state department.

In the department itself, Mr. Truman apparently will have to find a new team to replace the Marshall-Lovett combination which has carried through the revolutionary new foreign policies of his administration for the past 18 months.

Both General George C. Marshall, who took office as secretary in January 1947, and Undersecretary Robert A. Lovett, who moved in six months later, are understood planning to resign on or before inauguration day, January 20.

Speculation as to a successor for Marshall presently is wide open. Names which may come before Mr. Truman for consideration, however, include former undersecretary of state Dean Acheson and former economic undersecretary Will Clayton.

In front of the camera Elsa pretends to be an insincere woman she knows who's always talking about culture and thinks the only good things are imported ones.

As housekeeper to Loretta Young and David Niven in "The Bishop's Wife," Elsa tried to be like an Englishwoman she knows here. "The woman's very shy and always crying. One day she seemed so bad, I went out and bought her a pot of daffodils to remind her of England. She cried, "They're beautiful!" and burst into tears."

As the cook in "The Spiral Staircase," Elsa patterned herself after a 60-year-old, very fat scrubwoman she once employed. Like the cook in the picture, the scrublady was a tippler. "Once I wrote 'Poison' on her whiskey bottle," Elsa confessed, "and she was so offended she left."

Elsa's own Aunt Mary, her mother's sister, was the prototype for Elsa's portrayal of the artist with the floppy hats in "The Big Clock". "Aunt Mary was a painter, a rarity among women in the last century. Her hair hung in wisps. She made her own galoshes out of bicycle tires and left her paints around so that they got mixed up with the coffee cups. Of course, she didn't have all the husbands and children that the woman in the picture ad"

Elsa does her best in characterizations farthest removed from her own personality. Director Henry Koster says, "She's not just competent or adequate—she has that extra spark that fascinates you." Elsa's opinion of acting and actors was interesting:

"What is acting? Merely a desire to show off. It's like monkeys catching fleas at the zoo. Sometimes I think the monkeys haven't any fleas. They look up at the people and practically count the audience. They're actors!"— program, (5) federal aid to education (6) a farm price support program (7) repeal of the oleo taxes, and (8) strengthening of civil rights.

Quickies: Zachary Scott, John Hodiak, and John's wife, Anne Baxter, are plotting a 12-week invasion of eastern and western summer theaters next year in "Petrified Forest." Wallace Beery, now swaggering around a sound stage as "Big Jack," has made more than 200 movie. in 38 years.

Election-chastened Republicans won't oppose all of those. In fact, Dewey was for some of them.

Many Republicans Remain.

But if the Republicans were maimed by the one-man gang activities of Mr. Truman in Tuesday's voting, they weren't dismembered. A lot of them won't be back in Congress. But the Republican leadership there will remain the same, Rep. Joseph W. Martin, Jr. (as) bossing the House minority and Senator Robert A. Taft (o) continuing to run things by much on the Republican in the Senate.

ft shrugged off the election ts with the observation that proved it is almost impossible t an administration out of at the very peak of a prosboom."

GOP Maps Opposition.

rtin and Taft will not have trouble working up opposion to Mr. Truman's proposals. Most of the 42 Republicans left in the Senate and the 174 remaining

POPULAR VOTE

Associated Press returns at 12 noon (C. S. T.) Thursday from 123,203 of the country's 135,864 voting units showed the popular vote:

Truman	22,445,251
Dewey	20,466,202
Wallace	1,036,491
Thurmond	887,699
Total	44,725,643

the House are used to voting inst the Truman administra. And there aren't many new s among the Republicans.

aft and Martin are likely to fige that the battered GOP's best hance for a comeback in 1950 rests ith making Mr. Truman look bad his campaign promises.

The President made the Republican-controlled 80th Congress the p issue in his campaign, calling that "awful," "second worst" and iot" Congress.

Now his party has control by an pparent 260 to 174 margin over the epublicans in the House (there is e minor party member) and a rtain 54 to 42 edge in the Senate.

Future Action Awaited.

Whether Mr. Truman can get nuch more in the way of legislaion out of such a Democratic-conrolled Congress remains to be een.

Southern Democrats who have never been too enthusiastic about ome of his policies will be back n the saddle as chairmen of many f the important committees.

They may have a new respect for Mr. Truman as a political windmill who can chop down the opposition at the ballot boxes. But a lot of them think the President carried Southern States simply because he was the Democratic candidate and not because—for instance —he advocated repeal of the Taft-Hartley Act.

Mr. Truman won all but four Dixie states in the face of his proposals to legislate against race segregation and to strengthen other civil rights.

Filibusters Possible.

This probably won't stop at least 21 southern members from joining in a filibuster if any such proposals get to the floor of the senate. Senator Pepper (D-Fla) is an in-and-outer in the filibuster camp.

To satisfy the labor support which helped him carry some of the big industrial states, Mr. Truman is committed to proposing repeal of the Taft-Hartley Act.

But many Democrats who rode back into office with him would have to turn political hand springs to go along on that one.

And the Republicans who didn't rave to run or who came back are not necessarily convinced that a vote for the Taft-Hartley act was fatal to those who didn't return.

Farmers Vote Vital.

The Republicans were more inclined to think they lost the election because midwestern and western farmers were afraid a change in administration might hurt their prospects for future govenment price supports, reclamation services and other benefits.

That may be reflected in the development of a more solid bipartisan farm bloc in Congress in the next two years.

Labor, too, will get more attention—if that is possible.

The AFL Labor League for Political Education had an almost perfect record in calling its shots in the Senate races.

Labor Beats Some.

Nine Republicans it opposed, including seven incumbents, were flattened by the Truman-driven steam roller and only two of the league's endorsed candidates failed to make the grade. They are Frank Hook, Michigan Democrat, and Archibald S. Alexander, New Jersey Democrat.

President William Green of the AFL said the people had "repudiated the miserable record of the 80th Congress."

Mr. Truman's win not only routed the Republicans and Henry Wallace's Progressive party, but it apparently killed off a labor move to form a new party.

CIO Opposes New Party.

Jack Kroll, director of the CIO-Political Action committee, came out against such a third party.

The States' Rights Party, headed by Gov. J. Strom Thurmond of South Carolina, served notice it will continue its fight against the President's Civil Rights program.

Thurmond won four states—South Carolina, Mississippi, Alabama and Louisiana. But Mr. Truman demonstrated that the Democrats still can win even a close race without the Solid South.

Two things seemed certain :

Henry Wallace is through as a national political figure. He got little over 1,000,000 out of a total that may fall considerably short of the expected 50,000,000 mark.

Dewey Finished.

Thomas E. Dewey won't get another chance (he has had two) to run as the Republican nominee for President.

He finished a fairly close second to Mr. Truman in the popular vote of Truman 22,288,519, Dewey 20,420,065. But Mr. Truman led in 28 states with 304 electoral votes. Dewey was ahead in 16 with 189 electoral votes. Thurmond led in four with 38 votes.

Dewey returned to Albany last night with his family. He goes back to work soon on his job as governor of New York, which still has two years to run.

District Supervisors Navarro-Hill Soil Conservation District: Morris Crawford, chairman; W. C. Pearce, vice-chairman; Thad Jones,

W. M. Davidson, has just made a coordinated conservation plan on his farm which is located 10 miles south of Corsicana in the Corsicana Conservaton group.

Davidson will plant approximately one-fourth of his cultivated land in soil improving crops each year, provide sodded outlets for the terraces to empty on, sod his pastures with Bermuda grass and overseed with vetch to encourage the growth of the Bermuda. Davidson was assisted by Sherwood W. Pridgeon of the local Soil Conservation Service in making his plan.

Farmers cooperating with the Navarro-Hill Soil Conservation District, by making a coordinated conservation plan and entering into an agreement with the district to apply the conservation practices have made a good start toward controlling erosion on their farms. All farmers who have made this agreement with the district are entitled to any information, technical assistance, and supervision and any assistance the district may have available at the time the work is to be done.

W. R. Bonner, Eureka Conservation group has planted singletary peas for seed production. In addition to the singletary peas, Mr. Bonner has vetch up to a good stand.

I. T. Kent, Eureka conservation group, has planted hairy vetch and rye to be harvested next summer. Kent used the district-owned drill to put the seed and phosphate down at the same time. Kent used the vetch and rye seed harvested last year to plant approximately 50 acres.

E. Y. Cunningham, Corsicana conservation group, whose farm lies 3 miles northwest of Emhouse is maintaining approximately 6 miles of terraces. Due to cultivation, the terraces had become low and narrow. With the proper maintenance Cunningham has made the terraces high and broad enough to carry the water and at the same time afford easy cultivation. Terraces should be properly plowed up each year to afford the best protection.

Cooperators planting vetch in the Roane Conservation group are John Estes and Wade Arnett. Estes planted aproximately 50 acres. 20 acres of which will be left for seed production.

Mrs. W. F. Dixon, North Powell conservation group, built approximateely 11-2 miles of terraces which empty on good Bermuda grass sod.

TRUMAN

The telegram said newspapers, radio commentators and pollsters would be required to eat tough, old crow but the President would get turkey.

The President did not say whether he would accept.

They were accompanied by Mrs. Truman's mother, Mrs. D. W. Wallace.

The President and his family were greeted by a crowd estimated by police at 150. He shook hands with a number of old friends including Hurley Burgess, a railway express man who has known the President for a long time.

Just before the train left, Mrs. Truman expressed concern over whether the Truman cook, Vietta Garr, was aboard. Told that she was, Mrs. Truman smiled as did the President.

To cheering fellow townsmen in Independence yesterday, Mr. Truman said he would do his best to carry out his party's commitments as he had pledged himself to do in speeches throughout the nation.

They included:

(1) Repeal of the Taft-Hartley act.

(2) Expansion of social security coverage with benefits at least 50 per cent higher.

(3) Enactment of a national health program embracing compulsory health insurance.

(4) Passage of the controversial civil rights program, the advocacy of which cost him four southern states.

(5) Farm price supports and other agricultural legislation.

He did not deal specifically with any measure as he spoke briefly and simply to a throng gathered in the streets outside the Jackson county court house, but he said he "will do the best I can to carry out the Democratic platform."

"I have a congress now, and I feel very sure we are going to make some progress in the next four years."

Corsicana Man Brutally Beaten

A young Corsicana man was brutally beaten in a Mexia park Friday night by two unknown thugs who attempted to yank out the victim's tongue with wire pliars, it was learned here Wednesday.

The man's identity was not announced immediately. He and authorities from Limestone county were in Corsicana Wednesday conferring with Sheriff David Castles and other officers.

Details of the crime were lacking, but Constable Joe Allen reported he was informed the two assailants took the man to a park near Mexia, beat him and jerked his tongue with pliars. They reportedly fled in a red automobile, Allen said.

The victim said he would know the attackers when and if he saw them. The beating was said to have occurred following the group's departure from a beer joint.

Limestone County Attorney Norton Fox and Sheriff Charlie Shreve conferred with Sheriff Castles Wednesday morning, and developments in the case apparently were being worked out. The Corsicanan, who has virtually recovered from the assault, also was present.

news of President Truman's election victory.

Almost unanimously, they declared the unexpected Democratic party victory means the uninterrupted continuation of dollar aid and all-out support of the anti-Communist Truman doctrine.

New Picture Given

Above and beyond that, the people of western Europe are getting a new picture of the president as a man. They are being told he is going to out-Roosevelt Franklin D. Roosevelt. And until today, the late president was the greatest American in the world to Europeans.

Even Communist newspapers found it difficult to strike a sour note. The Communist line as reflected in party newspapers in Britain, France and Germany, is that Mr. Truman won because he stole Henry Wallace's thunder.

Therefore, the London Daily Worker said, the winning Democratic vote "is proof of the mass desire for peace and social progress."

Most of the other British newspapers laughed at the discomfiture of poll-takers, voiced relief that Washington would not have to undergo a change-over, and waxed almost lyrical in praise of Truman's personal fighting qualities.

JOBS

"No large scale projects are known to be in the planning stage at this time to absorb the surplus that will be available, and unless inside activity increases, claims for unemployment benefits will show a decided increase."

Reedy said that except for a few "minor dips" in the county's high employmen level reached in Sept. ember, almost total employment extended throughout October, despite the fact that much of the crop harvest had been completed by the middle of the month.

Increase Noted.

As agriculture began to fall into its usual fall pattern, an increase was noted in wholesale and retail trades, domestic and service employment, as well as some types of manufacturing and processing. Construction activity held at about an even keel with the last three or four months, but is far behind that of one and even two years ago at this season of the year.

At the end of October the active file had risen to 502 persons seeking jobs. The year's low of 476 was reached in September. Claims for unemployment benefits dropped slightly below September, each month recording the lowest number of claims for any month during the year. Reedy cited this as "a very healthy sign that jobs have been plentiful."

During October only 26 initial claims for state benefits were filed, while veterans' initial claims reached 50. During October 412 applicants were referred to jobs, resulting in 212 hires, a 12 percent drop from that of September.

The Treaty Of Paris

Recognizing United States Independence

Displayed By First National Bank

An enlarged reproduction of the treaty of Paris in which Great Britain recognizes the independence of the United States is now on display in the lobby of the First National Bank. This is one of 26 Freedom Train documents that have been reproduced for display at the bank as a public service to this community.

This Treaty was the result of highly successful diplomacy by the American representatives. Virtually all the hostilities ceased with the surrender of Lord Cornwallis at Yorktown in October 1781. The British were acutely aware of the futility of any offensive military action. Too, they were aware of the high cost of maintaining troops in America. Consequently, they were in the mood for peace and were ready to enter upon negotiations in the Spring of 1782.

There were many conflicting interests that necessitated long and difficult months of conferences between the French, the Americans, and the British. The final signing of the definitive Treaty of Peace between Great Britain and the United States (the Treaty of Paris) could not be accomplished until September 3, 1783. The delay was due to the fact that we could not conclude this treaty until France and England had come to terms, and France delayed her action in order to give Spain adequate time in which to negotiate.

The present document now on display was lent to the Freedom Train by the National Archives.

WE ARE NOW EXHIBITING THE SERIES OF 26 FREEDOM IN DODUMENTS (ONE EACH WEEK-END) YOU ARE CORDIALLY INVITED NSPECT THESE.

CORSICANA, TEX., NOV. 5, 1948

STATE FAIR INFLUENCE

Those two Russian army officers who fled to the United States zone of Austria to seek sanctuary in this country said they were captivated by Voice of America descriptions of the Virginia State fair. But it can be said without hesitation that probably the same effect could have been achieved by broadcasting descriptions of any state fair in the country.

This is an appealing incident. It would be hard to find anything more representative of the bountiful benefits of life in America than a state fair. There the choicest fruit of the land is displayed, and the people from all direction gather to stand side by side and gaze admiringly at a shiny red apple, a smartly groomed calf, or the most mouthwatering jar of pickles ever put on a pantry shelf. What can compare with the show in front of the grandstand, the fun on the midway, and the conversation that flows while tired feet rest?

The Voice of America is doing all right if it can put the picture of a state fair into language which a couple of Russian officers can understand. There are many other fine and appealing aspects of American life which would make appropriate material for the Voice.

HOODS IN FRANCE

Justice is belated in France, as in some other countries, but it does get there. After eleven years the French are bringing to trial the surviving leaders of the Cagoulards, or Hooded Men, who made a sensation in 1937. They were a masked organization, like the Ku Klux Klan, which indulged in petty outrages, and which later was discovered to be hooked up with a more dangerous group the Committee for Revolutionary Action.

This group had hidden large quantities of weapons, and was obviously planning a violent overthrow of the government. It was suppressed temporarily, but emerged again under the Nazis, and its members were all faithful supporters of their country's enemies.

The originators of the Cagoulards and the Committee for Revolution Action, of whom Eugene Deloncle was one, died during the war; but enough prominent members remain to make it worthwhile to try them. This process is now beginning, with good prospects that it will rid France of some dangerous citizens.

500,000 WORDS A MINUTE

There may be more usefulness than would appear at first glance in the recent development of a process, combining micro-photography and television, by which messages can be sent by radio at the fantastic speed of 500,000 words a minute.

Essentially a way has been found to transmit the images of motion picture film at extreme high speed, making at the receiving end a copy of the film comparing in quality with the original. The possibilities for use of this process are innumerable.

Used to transmit printed or written matter, it would almost inconceivably multiply the amount of material which can be transmitted in a minute of radio time. Thus it might offer an answer to the increasing problem of the crowding of available radio frequencies, permitting commercial message transmission to be cared for adequately in greatly reduced radio channel time. David Sarnoff, president of the Radio Corporation of America, suggested it might lead to commercial applications which would make it worthwhile to overcome the complex obstacles to television systems crossing the oceans.

This is one of those technical developments which fire the imagination.

SURVIVALS IN CONCRETE

The University of Chattanooga, Tenn., is erecting a new stadium. If the gloomy forecasts of some pessimists should come true and civilization be destroyed by the next world war, concrete structures like our stadiums would be likely to be the chief surviving buildings. President Charles W. Eliot of Harvard University many years ago said that if our civilization crumbled away like the Egyptian and the Babylonian, two types of structure would remain to show that we were capable of large constructon. He said these would be our skyscrapers. This was before the age of stadiums.

Perhaps some future class in archaeology, looking at a few concrete ruins of American culture, will ask, "What was the purpose of these large ovals, open to the weather?" And when told that they were designed for watching athletic contests, the reaction of some may be, "Could they not find anything better to do with their money and their materials?"

Unfortunately we shall not be on hand to explain the important place of football and baseball in American life.

PROPHECY FOR COMMUNISM

Leon Trotsky, who did as much as anyone to put the Communists in control of Russia, had a vision of what would ultimately happen. In 1903 he said, "The organization of the party takes the place of the party itself, the central committee takes the place of the organization, and finally the dictator takes the place of the central committee."

There is this to be said for such a system from the point of view of its opponents: If everything really depends on the will of one man, then when that one man loses his hold the system may totter. But seldom is one man so important. What looks like a dictatorship is likely to be an oligarchy.

BOYHOOD MEMORY.

Time was, when I was very small,
The boy who owned the bat and ball
Would grab them up and run away,
Refusing any more to play.

If someone else to pitch we chose,
Immediately his temper rose,
"I want to pitch myself!" he'd say,
"And if I can't, I will not play."

But if he took it in his head
To catch or play first base instead,
Unless we gave consent to that,
Away he'd take his ball and bat.

He'd run the game or wouldn't play;
And as he appears to me today
The best example I can find
Of Marshal Stalin's state of mind.

MRS. JOHN JOE McCOLPIN, JR.

MISS MOLLIE BETH ROBINSON OF DALLAS BECOMES BRIDE OF JOHN JOE MC COLPIN, JR.

Miss Mollie Beth Robinson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John M. Robinson, Dallas, became the bride of John Joe McColpin Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. McColpin Sr., Corsicana, Wednesday evening in a double ring ceremony in Wesley Methodist Church, Dallas. The Rev. Earl R. Hoggard was the officiating minister.

The vows were read after altar tapers were lighted by D. K. Robinson Jr. and David McColpin, Sorsicana, brother of the bridegroom, and following a prelude of wedding music. T. J. Coffey Jr. was the soloist singing "One Alone" and "Because." Accompanying at the piano was Mrs. Homer B. Wyatt.

The altar was a bower of chrysanthemums and gladioli against a background of ferns.

The bride, who entered on the arm of her father, was gowned in white slipper satin, fashioned with a yoke of imported English lace and heirloom pearls enclustered in seed pearls. The bodice was sculptured, and the long sleeves covered the wrists with petal points. Her finger tip veil of illusion fell from a tiara of pearlized orange blossoms. For the traditional "something old" the bride wore her maternal grandmother's wedding ring. She wore pearls, the gift of the bridegroom, and carried a white orchid atop her Bible.

Mrs. William Audie Kellum, sister of the bride and matron of honor, wore a frock of pink changeable taffeta with pink lace mitts and a Duch bonnet of lace. Pink rhinestones formed her necklace. She carried a bouquet of pink carnations looped with satin ribbon.

Mrs. Robinson, the bride's mother, was gowned in black crepe, and her flowers were white carnations. Mrs. McColpin, the bridegroom's mother, wore a dress of redwood crepe and a corsage of pink chrysanthemums.

J. J. McColpin Sr. attended his son as best man.

Ushers were Andrew McColpin, Austin, brother of the bridegroom, Forest Robinson, John R. Robinson and W. A. Kellum.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, 1942 Berwick, where the bridal principals received with their parents and members of the wedding party.

At the bride's table Miss Betty McColpin, Ft. Worth, sister of the bridegroom, presided at the cake, and Mrs. Harold Creamer was at the punch bowl. Mrs. T. J. Coffey Jr. registered the guests in the bride's book. Other members of the houseparty were Mrs. John R. Robinson and Mrs. Osey Robinson.

When Mr. and Mrs. McColpin left for a wedding trip to points in the southwest, the bride was wearing a green gabardine suit with brown accessories and an orchid corsage. They are to make their home in El Paso.

The bride was graduated from Corsicana High School. During her residence here she was employed by K. Wolen's department store. In Dallas she has been an assistant sales manager for the Haggar company.

The bridegroom was graduated from Corsicana High School, and he attended Southern Methodist University.

Out-of-town guests for the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. J. J. McColpin, Sr., Claude White McColpin, David McColpin, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Brietz, Mr. and Mrs. Frank P. Stanley, R. O. Brooks, Mrs. Elene Burleson, Mr. and Mrs. Claude White, all of Corsicana; Miss Betty McColpin, Mr. and Mrs. O. P. Douglas, Miss Daisy Stewart, Harry Fox, all of Fort Worth: Mr. and Mrs. M. W. White, Mark Wells White, Jr., Houston; and Andrew McColpin, Austin.

The rehearsal dinner was held Tuesday evening at the home of the bride's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. John R. Robinson, 1511 Michigan, Dallas.

The guest list included Mr. and Mrs. J. J. McColpin, Corsicana, parents of the bridegroom; Mr. and Mrs. John M. Robinson, parents of the bride; Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Kellum, Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Coffey Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Osey Robinson, the Rev. and Mrs. Earl R. Hoggard, D. K. Robinson Jr., and David McColpin, Corsicana.

Junior College Football Coach Civitan Speaker

"Football, in its proper place, is the most important sport in the school system," Ken Clark, coach of the Navarro Junior College football team, told the members of the Civitan Club at noon Thursday.

Besides the physical benefits of the game, it teaches the boy to develop moral benefits such as will power, self control, clear thinking at critical moments and sportsmanship, the coach asserted.

"I realize that sometimes football escapes from its proper position, that it is sometimes overstressed—but that is not the game's fault," Clark pointed out. "Football is one form of physical training, and physical training in its highest form is education."

"I had a nice speech all written out last week on "How to Play Football and Kick Extra Points," Clark quipped, "but I had to revise it after we played Ranger last week." He was referring to Navarro's 18-20 loss to Ranger.

In bringing his audience up to date on the grid sport, Clark pointed out that despite new formations, the fundamentals of the game such as blocking and tackling are as sound as ever, and that there is no easy way to play it.

One recent rule change—the free substitution rule—has been a boon to boys who can only do one thing in football well.. That rule has also enabled schools to use more boys, and thereby spread out the benefit of the game, the mentor explained.

Tom Westbrook and Bill Bacon were on the program committee bringing the speaker. Rev. J. Morris Bailey and Charles T. Banister were named to the committee for the Nov. 11 meeting.

The date of the Tiger Loyalty Banquet was definitely set for Dec. 10 at 7 o'clock.

During the meeting the Civitans voted unanimously to make their usual club contribution to the Community Chest drive.

"Husbands, Wives, and Marriage"

Maybe you read that survey published recently in a national magazine, entitled "Husbands, Wives, and Marriage."

It showed that among happily married couples, those who criticized themselves outnumbered those who criticized the other person. Among unhappily married couples, it was just the opposite—each one tended to criticize the other.

That's the way it is in our town, as I guess it is in yours. Criticism, whether it's of a wife's taste for hats, or a husband's taste for pipe tobacco and an evening glass of beer or ale, is a sure start towards unhappiness.

As for what made happy marriages, companionship within the home was listed most important of all. And from where I sit, a husband and wife who can spend an evening by the fire—with nothing more exciting than a mellow glass of beer, and a friendly conversation—are a truly well-matched couple!

Soil And Water Conservation Serious Problem

A serious problem in Navarro county—soil and water conservation needs— is being overcome gradually by students in the Navarro County Vocational Training School, Ray Brooks, instructor of the Frost class, revealed Tuesday.

In a news report to School Co-ordinator Ralph Evans, Brooks told of several extensive soil building and soil saving projects by student veterans.

The answer to the water supply problem, said Brooks, is to build the Chambers creek and Richland Creek dams called for in the Trinity river watershed project.

"When a congressman was approached on the subject of speeding up this project," Brooks reported, "his answer was approximately 15 years unless a lot of headway is made in protecting the watershed areas of these dams to prevent their silting in as has the Corsicana city lake."

A veteran, Jack Brooks, with the aid of soil conservation service, is carrying on an extensive program on his farm, located in these watershed areas—4 1-2 miles west of Corsicana—the Frost instructor said. Work just completed includes plowing under 60 acres of green cotton stalks; seeding 60 acres to hairy vetch after application of 200 pounds of superphosphate per acre, and building terraces on 20 acres of cultivated land.

Other jobs completed in the last two years, it was reported, were: A complete outlet system for terraced water, terraces on 40 acres counter cultivation of 65 acres, farm pond, clearing and mowing 50 acres of pasture, constructing fence for a complete livestock program and eradication of Johnson grass on 65 acres of cultivated land.

And Brooks reported many other plans for the future to solve the growng soil and water problem.

Doctors Probe Mystery Of The 'Spleeny' Spleen

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Reporter

NEW YORK — The ancient Greeks thought they had a secret to give a marathon runner more wind and endurance. They took out his spleen.

This story appears in medical histories, but doctors don't know whether it's true. One thing is certain—if the ancients tried it, their crude operations probably killed most of the athletes. It's also certain that removing the spleen didn't help their wind.

Later the spleen was thought to be a storehouse of bad blood and a cause of bad humor. The ill-tempered person was "spleeny" or "venting his spleen."

Still later came the superstition that a person would die within seven years if his spleen was taken out.

All these ideas are false. But the spleen still is an organ of mystery, Dr. William Dameshek of the J. H. Pratt Diagnostic Hospital, Tufts College of Medicine, Boston, points out in an exhibit and book about the spleen.

Curiously enough you don't need your spleen to live.

Trouble comes when the spleen becomes over-active, especially when it enlarges. When that happens, any of three serious blood diseases may develop. Dr. Dameshek reports a high percentage of success in 300 spleen-removal operations to combat these diseases.

In one, hemolytic anemia, red blood cells are destroyed at four to ten times the normal rate. Serious anemia develops. Removal of the spleen has cured the anemia in 60 to 100 per cent of various kinds of this red blood cell anemia, he said.

In another disease, the bone marrow factories don't make enough white blood cells. Taking out the spleen has corrected the trouble in about 80 per cent of these cases.

The third condition is due to lack of platelets. These are special blood cells which help make blood clot properly. They also are made in the bone marrow. If the spleen is removed, the bone marrow usually begins producing sufficient numbers of platelets again. The operation has been 85 per cent successful in overcoming this disease, Dr. Dameshek reports.

He says the spleen secretes some substance that tends to restrict production of blood cells. He thinks the substance may be a hormone.

He and his associates are trying to produce extracts from spleens to solve the puzzle. If there is a hormone, it might lead to methods of controlling the blood diseases without operation.

State GOP Chief Sees Breakdown Of Solid South

BROWNSVILLE, Nov. 4—(AP)—R. B. Creager, Republican national committeeman from Texas, today forecast the breakdown of the one-party system in the South.

Creager said, however, the Republicans will not have to hold a primary for the next election in view of the results of Tuesday's general election. "There is no question about it," he added.

Some election experts had conjectured that the GOP might have to hold a primary election since its senatorial candidate, Jack Porter, polled more than 200,000 votes, even though its candidate for governor, Alvin Lane, apparently received less than 200,000.

Creager said "the statute is plain" and the vote total received by a senatorial aspirant has nothing to do with the requirement to have a primary election. The statute provides that the Republican candidate for governor must receive at least 200,000 votes.

Commenting on the GOP strength show in Texas Tuesday, Creager said:

"Political events in the South this year may mean the breakdown of the one-party system here.

"So many Democrats broke away from their own party I think it is going to bring about a material readjustment of political alignments in Texas and the South."

It Was Waste Paper Burning, Not Ballots

They weren't burning the ballots Tuesday at the White's Chapel box. But one voter thought so.

A pipe-smoking ballot-marker nonchalantly emptied his fiery briar into a basket littered with coal and paper. Flames and smoke began pouring from the basket.

One voter shouted, "Hey, don't burn up the ballots when they're not even counted!"

The blaze was quickly extin- gu[illegible]shed.

Local Democrat Leaders Elated Over Election

By BOB CAMPBELL
Daily Sun Staff

Corsicana, over coffee cups and in solitude, took its election news straight Wednesday.

Just as there were mixed emo- tions prior to Tuesday, there were mixed emotions the day after as news of the Democratic routing became actuality.

The winners and the defeated passed each other on thes treet.

"You a Democrat?" the Demo- crats grinned.

"You a Porter man?" the Lyn- don Johnson men grinned.

It was all great fun and a n ural reaction to the sweeping and unheralded, nationally speaking, turn of events.

The sun beat in a south window at Butler-Calhoun office on Collin St. at 9 a. m.

Sitting inside with his hat on his head and a grin on his face was John C. Calhoun, chairman of the state Democratic committee.

Calhoun Statement

Calhoun, staunch Democrat sup- porter who took the state job in the midst of turmoil, had a state- ment. It read:

"It is with a spirit of deep hu- mility and gratitude that I realize the electorate of Texas has spok- en so definitely in favor of the Democratic Party.

"This great Democratic victory is most gratifying due to the fact that our party was assailed by more enemies than ever before. Those in office under the Demo- cratic Party have ben malignd and unjustly criticized and this vindication of our ticket from top to bottom is highly gratifying.

Great Victory

"It seems now that the Demo- cratic ticket has been successful nationally, and should this great victory be achieved it will be against the greatest odds that have ever existed, and credit is due to none other than the courageous efforts of our President, Harry Truman. The confidence thus expressed is him by the American people will make him a real world leader. The next four years with a majority in the House with Sam Rayburn as its speaker, and a majority in the Senate with Tom Connally again as chairman of the foreign relations committee, will make the Truman plan for peace throughout the world a living, ac- tive thing, and perhaps this elec- tion will have a most deterring ef- fect on what some of our enemies are inclined to call World War III."

Tyson Jubilant

Tom L. Tyson, secretary of the Texas Democratic executive com- mittee, was jubilant over the Dem- ocratic victory as he left for Fort Worth to again testify in a politi- cal suit there. Tyson, who was permanent chairman of the Dem- ocratic convention in Fort Worth on Sept. 14, is a witness in the Tarrant county injunction suit to keep precinct chairmen from be- ing purged, removal of electors and members of the state commit- tee.

Tyson expressed "great satisfac- tion and delight in the outcome of the election both locally and na- tionally."

Praise for Jester

"In respect to Texas it is partic- ularly gratifying that my long- time friend and fellow-townsman, Gov. Beauford H. Jester, led the ticket in contested offices, thus demonstrating the people are pleas- ed with his administration, and applaud his political course in championing the entire Democrat- is ticket at a time when some tim- id souls and many selfish individ- uals were withholding their sup- port from the part of the people," Tyson added.

"I am also delighted in the out- come of the senatorial election, not only because of the victory won by Lyndon B. Johnson, but be- cause the Democrats are in con- trol of the upper house, thereby placing Senator Tom Connally of Texas again at the head of the foreign relations committee.

"Both as a Texan and as a Dem- ocrat, I'm unspeakably proud of the miraculous recapture of the House of Representatives which will result in the elevation of Con- gressman Sam Rayburn again to the speakership."

Appeals for Unity

Tyson appealed for unity in Tex- as Democratic circles with his concluding statement:

"Now that the election is over, I hope that the heat generated during the campaign will subside and wounds will heal rapidly and completely."

Corsicana, too, was one of the focal points of Jack Porter's un- successful campaign.

Lloyd Wheelock, oil man and ranch owner, was his campaign manager.

At Wheelock's office Wednesday at noon it was said he had not returned from Houston, the state headquarters.

Mose Blumrosen, long-time Re- publican leader in Navarro Coun- ty, was out of town.

SENATOR-ELECT LYNDON B. JOHNSON

Johnson Proud Of Decisive Win Over "Unholy Campaign" Of Opponents

AUSTIN, Nov. 3—(AP)—Lyndon Johnson, proud of his decisive vic- tory over Republican Candidate Jack Porter in the race for Unit- ed States Senator last night thank- ed his supporters for repudiating the "unholy campaign" of "right- wing Republicans and turncoat Democrats."

Ignoring the contest brought by Cake Stevenson to prevent his be- ing seated in the senate, Johnson said in a statewide broadcast: "x x x My service in the senate of the United States shall be primarily for the purpose of making a per- manent peace x x x x."

"Let us all join together, not- withstanding the bitterness of the past, in rededicating ourselves as a united people, as a united na- tion to a program of prepared- ness, peace and progress," he urged. The same three-point pro- gram was advanced by Johnson in his opening campaign speech of the Democratic primary election last May.

Taking time out from receiving election and congratulatory tele- phone calls, Johnson went on the air shortly before 11 p. m.

"To tell you that I am pleased is putting it mildly," he said. "Tru- ly, I have never had doubt but that Texans, when they knew the facts, would return the proper ver- dict.

"To be perfectly frank with you, however, since the pied pipers of privilege in conspiracy with the right-wing Republicans and turn- coat Democrats who have joined in the unholy campaign that they have been waging against me since Aug. 28, with a treasury equalling if not exceeding that of Midas of old, I have been somewhat wor- ried but what, with this fabulous expenditure in the hands of profes- sional propagandists, that even the people of Texas might be fooled into turning this state over to the special interests who have fought me in my own tenth congressional district since my first election."

"Now that they were unable to discredit me before my constituen- cy whom I had served for 11 years, they had sought twice—one in the Democratic primary and now in this general election—to defeat me because I would not knuckle down to the oilcrats when they issued their commands from Houston," Johnson continued.

Johnson was in a happy, jocular mood throughout the evening.

"What about this contest of your being seated in the senate?" a re- porter asked.

"What contest?" Johnson fired back. "Read Fulton's wire." He tossed out a telegram sent to him by Rep. James G. Fulton (R-Pa) which read: "Hoping for fine re- sults in your race. Good luck."

Jester Acclaims Party Win With Service Challenge

AUSTIN, Nov. 4.—(AP)—Governor Beauford H. Jester hailed Tues- day's Democratic victory with a challenge to the party to "serve all the people wisely and well."

"The amazing Democratic victory will go down in history as a tri- bute to the courage and fighting spirit of President Truman," the governor said yesterday in a pre- pared statement.

Jester said it is time for the party "in gratitude and humble- ness, to re-dedicate itself to true Democratic principles."

"The Democratic party has prov- ed itself strong enough to get along without its dissenting ele- ments; now I hope it will prove it- self strong enough to get along with them," he said.

The governor recalled that he had opposed the President's Civil Rights and tidelands stands. He said his staying within the party, instead of bolting it, puts him in better position to continue his fight for states rights and for state ownership of tidelands.

Jester thanked Texans for his own general election victory.

"During the next two years I want to work closely with the legislature in a program of state services that will strengthen our claim to states' rights," he said, "In that direction lies our only chance to meet and defeat a trend toward governmental centraliza- tion and federalization."

Kerens Bobcats, State Home Lads Play For Flag

The Kerens Bobcats, defending District 19-B champions, and the State Home Laddies, chief co. tend- ers, disposed of two more grid op- ponents last week and now stands face to face in their annual grudge game this week.

As usual for the past two years, the district title apparently hangs in the balance.

The two teams are tied at the top of the standings, both being undefeated in conference play.

In last week's games, Dawson dropped down a notch in the stand- ings because of its loss to the Lad- dies. Hubbard won another, to stay next best behind State Home and Kerens. Italy's Gladiators pushed themselves a step higher with another win at the expense of Mildred, Frost and Blooming Grove remain tied for the cellar.

The Garitty Field stands will be filled when the Laddies and Bob- cats meet Friday night. Rivalry between the members of the two elevens is intense, and there is lit- tle to choose between the season records of the two teams, although Kerens lost its opening game of the season to a non-conference foe, Lancaster.

The season records of the two teams are as follows:

The raise will remain in effect until June 1, 1951.

Ten distinct services are touched by the raise. Chief among them, however, are business telephones, jumping from $5 to $8.50, and one-party residential telephones from $2.50 to $3. Two-party and four-party residential lines each went up 25 cents.

Office Space.

The vote was a climax to a twitchy day in the commission room. There was, for instance, an argument over office space.

Jack D. Everheart, U. S. soil conservationist, told the commission he had been notified by Davant that the office now used by a surveying staff on Trinity river flood control work was needed by the police department. He stressed the importance of the work, asked that that or another office be given the crew.

Davant told the commission the room is needed for a parking meter repair room. It is next to the police headquarters.

Everheart told the group he made his plea "on behalf of the land owners in your trade territory..."

Mayor Braselton said that as long as office space was being discussed, the draft board wanted an office in the city hall.

Built By Citizens.

It was suggested that the city recorder's office on the second floor be given the draft board. That would leave the soil crew outside.

Rittersbacher, declaring the city hall was built by Corsicana citizens for Corsicana interests, added, "I don't see why the city hall should be turned over to the U. S. government."

He was reminded that the draft board also is a U. S. agency.

The whole matter was turned over to Davant and Prince, the building committee.

The officials looked at the meat ordinance costs and began to wonder. Supposed originally to carry itself, it was noted that October produced only $290.25, and that salaries of two men totaled $400, and one of these wanted a $50 raise.

Dr. W. A. Wilson, veternarian, is paid $200 and Arthur Levi, assistant inspector, $200. Prince said Levi wanted a raise. It was hoped to do some cutting somewhere.

Outdoor Toilets.

The group instructed Fred V. Blucher, city engineer, to make an immediate survey on outdoor toilets, and Jacobs was instructed to file suits against those violating the open toilet ordinance. Jacobs said he would seek injunctive relief against those who maintain outdoor toilets within the legal limit of a sewer line. He said he would file "ten or twelve" against property owners who maintain the outdoor toilets on rent property.

The commission also:

Approved permanent slaughterers' permits for the City Market, Harris Grocery and Market, Elkins and Jones, and Hayes Bonner, although the latter had made no application for one.

Approved Mayor Braselton's appointment of R. L. Brown as motorcycle policeman, approved his $500 bond and one for a similar amount for R. M. Minatra, a new patrolman.

Fire Report.

Received the monthly fire report showing 25 alarms in October, with property loss of $8,691.

Received a petition for a water line along East Twelfth avenue.

Approved a contract covering pavement on West Fourteenth avenue between South 18 1-4 and South 19th streets, and on 18 1-4 and 18 1-2 between West Thirteenth and West Fourteenth avenues.

Monthly Reports.

Approved monthly bills totaling $10,783.36 divided among the following departments: Administrative, $924; sanitary, $700; fire, $227; street lights, $271; police, $213; street fund, $3,082; water, $4,830; cemetery, $39; airport, $476; White housing, $14; negro housing, $3.

Navy Will Have More Friends In New Congress

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4.—(AP)—The Navy, which has watched the swift ascendency of the Air Force during the last year, seems likely to have old and powerful friends back in key spots of the next, Democratic congress.

In line for chairmanships of the Senate and House Armed Services committees are former ranking members of Naval committees which existed—along with separate military (Army) committees—prior to the 1947 unification act.

Rep. Carl Vinson (D-Ga), for years before, during and since the war sponsored and fought for big-Navy legislation in the House. The Navy looks upon him as a modern-day patron saint.

The existing program to convert warships into modern, atom-age craft and to build new models as patterns for future fleets reflects Vinson's thinking.

On the Senate side, Senator Millard Tydings (D-Md), who headed the former naval committee in that branch, probably will become chairman of the Armed Services group. What the Navy owed Vinson in the House, it also owed Tydings in the Senate.

So new the Air Force's opposition to several Navy ideas—including that approved last session of building a 65,000-ton supercarrier capable of handling big bombardment planes—will be considered by committees led by staunch Navy friends.

Waco And Temple Remain In Tie For District

Waco and Temple high schools remained in a tie for first place in District 9-AA this week, following Waco's overpowering of Corsicana and Temple's decision over Cleburne.

Corsicana dropped to a tie with Hillsboro, and Waxahachie remained one notch above them.

Four conference teams see action this week, but three will be resting.

The feature game of the week in the district will be Corsicana's clash with Waxahachie in the Ellis county capital. Ennis and Cleburne, currently dwelling in the cellar, meet this week in Cleburne to see who shall inherit the bottom.

Waco, Temple and Hillsboro have no games scheduled this week. The district favorite, Waco, has three district games remaining and none of these should extend them at all. As far as the dope is concerned, Waco is already the champion.

Stew Meat Gets Negro Cook Into Another Big Stew

A weakness for good meat—somebody else's meat—Thursday had cost Cleveland Smith, negro cook, another $25.

That made $75 Cleveland has paid within a 30-day period.

Smith was arrested some weeks ago after he sent a hatbox full of the Navarro Coffee Shop's meat supply up a dumb waiter. A negro bellboy who was supposed to lift it out when it reached the second floor was fined $25. The cook was fined $50.

Wednesday the cook got hungry again.

He was arrested by the city police department after he departed from the coffee shop with a stew in his pants pockets.

It really wasn't a stew, in the sense that it had potatoes and carrots and peas already blended in. It was stew meat.

J. T. Smith, who operates the coffee shop, put the little old sack of stew meat on a desk before City Recorder Clay Nash.

He asked Cleveland about a ham that wasn't there.

"Don't know nothing about no ham," Smith replied. "Just that little stew chunk."

Smith asked him about 5 pounds of hamburger that hadn't found its way into customer consumption.

"Don't know nothing about no hamburger," was the unrevealing reply.

Cleveland was released from jail after paying the $25 fine. Another negro suspected of helping out from time to time was released.

The "little old stew chunk" never got in with the potatoes and the carrots and the peas.

Six States Vote Veterans Bonus, Four Reject It

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4—(AP)—World War II veterans in six states are due for an estimated $500,000,000 windfall, but in half a dozen other states they didn't fare so well.

The question of bonuses for veterans was one of a number of state issues decided by voters Tuesday. Here are some of the results:

1. Kansas voted to repeal its 68-year-old prohibition amendments, but it's up to the 1949 legislature whether the Sunflower state finally goes wet.

Divorces Legalized

2. South Carolina joined the other 47 states in legalizing divorces.

3. Massachusetts overwhelmingly beat down an attempt to make it legal for doctors to give contraceptive advice to married women whose health would be endangered by pregnancy. The present 100-year-old law, backed by the Catholic church, bans any form of birth control.

4. Labor won a sweeping victory in Massachusetts with the defeat of proposals to ban union and closed shops and set up other restrictions. A similar closed shop ban wa losing in New Mexico, but Arizonans approved a measure putting into effect a labor-opposed "right-to-work" amendment passed in 1946.

Bonuses Approved

5. Maryland and Michigan voted measures to protect their states against subversive influences.

These states approved bonuses: Indiana, South Dakota, Louisiana, Iowa, Washington, and apparently, Minnesota. The Indiana referendum is not binding on the 1949 legislature. The Minnesota decision will not be definite until the state canvassing board determines whether it received the required majority of all votes cast.

Four states—Missouri, Nebraska, Wisconsin and Oregon—rejected bonus proposals. In addition, North Dakota voted down a tax for a veterans' rehabilitation fund, and California, with nearly three-fourths of the precincts reported, apparently had rejected a veterans' tax exemption proposal.

Truman Holds 304 Electoral Votes As Most Counted

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4—(AP)—With about 94 percent of the vote counted, President Truman had won or appeared assured of victory in 28 states with a total of 304 electoral votes.

Gov. Thomas E. Dewey seemed certain to carry 16 states with 189 electoral votes, 77 short of the 266 needed to capture the presidency.

On the basis of incomplete returns at 8:30 a. m., CST, today, only two states—California and Idaho—conceivably could shift against the president. And in both states, Mr. Truman's lead appeared sufficient to give him their combined 29 electoral votes.

California for Truman

With 3,027 of California's 16,802 precincts unreported Mr. Truman had 1,533,253 votes to Dewey's 1,475,223. California has 25 electoral votes.

In Idaho, with 59 of the state's 834 precincts unreported Mr. Truman led 105,395 to 90,502.

The only state now in the Dewey column which conceivably could shift to Mr. Truman is Indiana with 13 electoral votes. With 967 of the state's 4,056 precincts still unreported Dewey held a lead of 773,260 to 765,963.

In popular vote, returns from 122,349 of the country's 135,804 voting units gave Mr. Truman 22,258,519, Dewey 20,420,065, Henry A. Wallace, the Progresive party candidate, had 1,030,781 votes and J. Strom Thurmond, the State's Rights candidate 864,303.

Thurmond Gets 4 States

On the basis of incomplete returns Thurmond, the governor of South Carolina, carried four states—Alabama, Louisiana, Mississippi and South Carolina, with a total of 38 electoral votes.

States making up Mr. Truman's anticipated 304 electoral votes are Arizona (4), Arkansas (9), California (25), Colorado (6), Florida (8), Georgia (12), Idaho (4), Illinois (28), Iowa (10), Kentucky (11), Massachusetts (16) Minnesota (11), Missouri (15), Montana (4), Nevada (3), New Mexico (4), North Carolina (14), Ohio (25), Oklahoma (10), Rhode Island (4), Tennessee (12), Texas (23), Utah (4), Virginia (11), Washington (4), West Virginia (8), Wisconsin (12), Wyoming (3).

States giving Dewey his 189 electoral votes are: Connecticut (8), Delaware (3), Indiana (13), Kansas (8), Maine (5), Maryland (8), Michigan (19), Nebraska (6), New Hampshire (4), New Jersey (16), New York (47), North Dakota (4), Oregon (6), Pennsylvania (35), South Dakota (4), and Vermont (3).

China Hopes For Miracle To Halt Communist Gains

NANKING, Nov. 4.—(AP)—Nationalist China today drew its defense lines closer to Nanking as its leaders hoped for some miracle to save the country from the threat of Communist conquest.

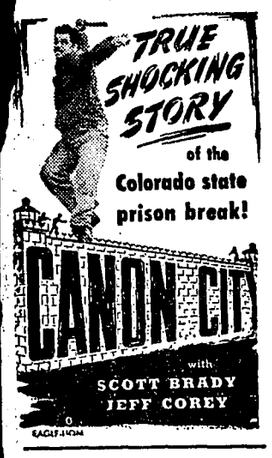

Faced with a cabinet crisis, economic collapse, and the loss of numerical superiority over his Communist foes, Chiang Kai-Shek appeared determined to carry on the fight against the Reds.

A demand for an end of the struggle and a coalition with the Communists—which is openly favored by many as an unhappy but the only remaining solution of the nation's problems—still has not figured in the government plans.

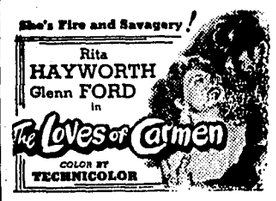

...ment's last remanng forces in Central China were being moved ... It appeared that the govern... into position to block Red Gen. Chen Yi should he attempt to thrust in strenth past Suchow, 170 miles north of the national capital.

MIGHTY BIBLICAL DRAMA PRESENTS AN ETERNAL TRUTH

Book of Job Deals With Problem Which Baffles Us Today—Timely Message For a Frustrated Age—Only Religion Answers Life's Insistent Queries

By WILLIAM T. ELLIS and EARL L. DOUGLASS

Drama in the Bible? Yes, the Book of Job is a drama. It was never intended for stage production, but drama it is, for it sets forth with great literary beauty and incomparable clarity one of the most dramatic situations in life—the unmerited suffering of the righteous. We can all understand why the wicked suffer, but why should the righteous suffer? The question is answered—in the book of Job.

Value Set Too Low

This man Job was indeed a righteous man. But Satan suggested to the Lord that Job was good because he had everything a man could want; strip him of his possessions and his health, suggested the Adversary, and you will see him as he is, as weak and ungrateful as the next fellow. Satan's reasoning was plausible to the extent that it was based on the awesome truth that the strongest and saintliest souls have ever in them the possibility of a moral and spiritual collapse. The wild beasts in every man's breast are forever tugging at their chains, and sometimes, in the most unexpected hour, they break loose. But Satan was wrong in his estimate of this man Job. Here was one of those hard, flinty characters who could take all the punishment life has to offer and still retain his faith in God and man.

The question as to why the righteous suffer is as much in the forefront of men's thinking today as it was in Job's day. In this ancient drama we are told that God permits trouble to come up men, good and bad alike, for the purpose of reforming them. Through every conceivable type of suffering Job held fast to his belief that God is just. He did a lot of complaining, he questioned the Divine motives, he lashed out in fierce denial against his friends when they suggested that he was evidently suffering as the result of some secret sin. Patient in his suffering, dogged in his determination to see it through to the bitter end, Job the righteous remained righteous and praised God for His goodness. That is better than most of us could do after a lifetime of Christian training and after two thousand years of Christian background.

The Root of the Matter

The reason why Job could stand fast when undeserved calamity and suffering avalanched across his poor heart, was because he had religious faith and insisted on holding fast to it. He had the root of the matter within his heart. Over against his troubles he set the abiding truth that in the quiet qualities of the heart, in the attitude toward one's neighbor, and in one's own inner relations with God, reside the real prizes of life. He aspired to spiritual peace, and held it more to be desired than his former wealth.

His example, set forth in this magnificent Biblical drama, comes down across the centuries to warn us that security and happiness are not to be achieved primarily by any schemes of economic planning. Not changed conditions but changed human lives will give us a better world. For the individual, for the nation, and for the race the pot of gold is not at the distant end of a rainbow, but in the familiar garden of the human heart.

Through chapter after chapter of involved discourse, Job argues with his friends—and by inference with us—that in a universe presided over by a just and righteous God, the good suffer as well as the evil.

In a mighty display of power God reveals Himself to suffering Job. He points to the creatures of the deep, to the stars of heaven, to the rotation of the seasons, to the alternation of rain, snow, and sunshine, God does nothing more than draw back the curtain. The unexpressed but pertinent question is, can the Creator of these things be interested in badgering man and punishing him? Trouble has come upon you, Job, not to punish you but to improve you—to polish you that you may be a shining gem in the crown of the Most High.

Job sees the point, claps his hands over his mouth, declares himself a fool for his complaining, and even prays for his well-meaning but mistaken friends.

God Has Last Word

After all, this is God's world. The Infinite has not abdicated, even though in our suffering we may be tempted to believe He has. When all man's devices have failed, when Job the righteous sprawls on an ash heap complaining about his lot and talking back sharply to his well-meaning friends, then God steps into the picture. "Man's extremity is God's opportunity."

God's opportunity for Job—and for you and me. All this makes the work of parents, preachers, and Sunday school teachers more important than the utterances of statesmen and the action of egislation bodies.

SEVEN SENTENCE SERMONS

In the darkest of the black below there it not a devil but a God.
—DeFoe.

A friend shares my sorrow and makes it but a moiety, but he swells my joy and makes it double.
—Jeremy Taylor.

How happy is he born and taught,
That serveth not another's will;
Whose armour is his honest thought,
And simple truth his honest skill!
—Sir Henry Wotton.

A wish for friendship is formed quickly, but not friendship.
—Arisotle.

He knoweth the way that I take;
When he hath tried me, I shall come forth as gold.
—Job 23:10.

Within the brain's most secret cells
A certain Lord Chief Justice dwells,
A sovereign power, whom one and all,
With common voice, we Reason call.
—Churchill.

It is good to have something great to achieve, some high hope ahead, but we all come to realize in time that it is not the attainment nor the failure that counts, but the earnest striving.
